PROSPECTUS, OF THE

EASTON GAZETTE,

And Eastern Shore Intelligencer. HAVING purchased the establishment of the People's Monitor, from Mr. Rowlenson, the paper will be published every Saturday, as formerly, under the above title. The Editor candidly acknows ledges that his principles are purely Federal, and that his paper will be impressed with the same character. This character ought to belong, and does in fact belong to the state of Maryland; and he is encouraged to believe that the unexpected and unpleasant return of the elections in some of the districts on this Shore, have not proceeded from any change in the sentiments of the people, but from a degree of apathy and idle confidence in several of their leaders, from which, judicious observations on their danger happily might have roused them. It is, therefore, not improbable that better information upon the state, of their affairs, and more frequent admonitions concerning the arts and designs of their opponents, may have the useful effect of keeping alive the free spirit of federalism, and a due sense of the necessity of continual vigilance. No measure can promote these desirable objects with so much convenience and satisfaction, as a well conducted paper; and such a paper the Editor will employ all his industry and resources to establish; and to assist his own efforts, he will proudly rely upon the Talents and Counsels of his Patrons

Friends. But such a paper need not be exclusively confined to political subjects. Instruction and amusement of another kind may be communi. cated; such as Foreign and Domestic Intelligence; Improvements n Agriculture, Manufactures and Trades, Treaties upon the Arts and Sciences, Sketches of History, Geographical and Biographical; Customs, Manners, and Religious and Moral Essays, furnish a rich variety of interesting matter, from which the Editor will always be careful to select the most engaging pieces, for the Entertainment and Information of his Readers.

With these assurances, he submits his Prospectus to a people, whom he understands to be no less . liberal than enlightened; and hopes by his diligence and attention, to deserve the 'patronage and friend-ship which they may feel an inclination to bestow.

CONDITIONS.
